Mrs. Orr retires after 30 years of banking experience

On Thursday evening September 4, 1975 The Royal Canadian Legion Haliburton, Ontario, was the setting of a delicious dinner served by the Ladies Auxiliary to the Bank of Montreal Staff (husbands and wives included), the honoured guest being Mrs. Wanda (James) Orr.

Mr. Hore, the present Manager, acted as Master of Ceremonies. He spoke very highly of Mrs. Orr, her long valuable and conscientious service and how she would be missed because of her knowledge of the Bank and Branch routine. He ended by presenting her with two beautiful items of Sterling Silver.

In reply Wanda spoke of the Managers she had worked for in her banking career, and how each one was so understanding, also that there was a definite place in banking for girls of today and that it is interesting and offers a real challenge, however she felt it was now time for her to start some of the other goals she had in life. Wanda was the first appointed Accountant and first appointed Assistant Manager of the Haliburton Branch. She taught many trainees banking, some of which have now progressed to the level of Inspection Department.

She will be missed greatly from the customer side of the counter as she knew the answers and was always pleasant in dealing with the public, whether it be by phone, correspondence or direct.

We hope she has many happy years of retirement.

Blagdon Hill celebrates centennial

Some 240 guests attended the gala centennial celebration of Blagdon Hill in Stanhope Township on Saturday, September 6th. Built in 1875 by John Henry Billing "Blagdon Hill" is a unique landmark in Haliburton County.

On 200 acres of land purchased from the Crown he carefully planned and built a stone house and outbuildings. Architect, B. Nathan Simpson, Jr., of Thornhill a member of the Ontario Historical Society, discovered this site in 1957 and following its acquisition, he restored and doubled the size of the original home to one that maintains the timeless proportions of an English country home, radiant with distinguished old-world charm, and a dominating view of the surrounding countryside including a portion of Little Hawk Lake.

Napier and his lovely wife, Audrey, welcomed guests from many parts of Ontario as well as Quebec, the Maritimes and as far away as Texas. This social event marked the one hundredth anniversary of Blagdon Hill and the fiftieth birthday of its present owner, B. Napier Simpson, who humbly confesses it was John Henry Billing who made the whole thing possible.

Beef a la rotisserie with all the trimmings were prepared and served by Art Ward and his very competent and courteous staff from Wig-A-Mog Inn whose expertise in catering to the public drew great praise from all who were present.

A very sincere thanks is extended to the Simpson family for a memorable day in a delightful setting.

Gordie Tapp to highlight entertainment

Highlight of the day's events will be the evening entertainment starring GORDIE TAPP of Hee Haw fame. Of course many folks have long recognized Gordie as a top rate and versatile performer ranging from the buffonery of 'COUSIN CLEM' on the Country Hoedown show to the sophisticated offerings at any of a thousand supper clubs on both sides of the border. Gordie has also made 27 Christmas tours doing shows for Canadian Servicemen abroad. Also appearing with Gordie will be Peter Randell and his band as well as the Laverne Country Dancers. Peter Randell has accompanied such top entertainers as Petula Clark, Andy Williams and Johnny Mathis.

As a special attraction, Ed Gyurki, Shelburne old-time fiddling champion, will be returning to the Highlands courtesy of LaRue Motor Sales Limited and Brohm and Leighton, Real Estate Brokers. Doors open to the arena at 8:30 p.m. with the show getting underway at 9:00 with dancing until 1:00 a.m. Tickets will be $3.50 at the door. Advance sale tickets are now on sale at $3.00 and can be purchased at Varty's Jewellery, C.A. Dawson Insurance, or from any member of the Haliburton Rotary Club.

REMEMBER get your advance tickets and be there early to get a good seat for this fine show!

So circle that date on your calendar and be there for FESTACOLOUR - '75 on SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 27TH.

Hall's Lake news

Mr. Hart is leaving to spend a few days with his daughter in Toronto and to finalize the arrangements concerning his flight to England next month.

Mrs. Althea Gartshore and Miss Marjorie Johnson are arriving home from their travels this Sunday. Bill Gartshore is meeting them at Malton Airport. Welcome home, ladies! We missed you.

Mr. Elmer Russell and family are visiting his mother, Mrs. Edith Russell this weekend.

Mrs. Baird is remaining at her cottage as long as possible since she enjoys it very much.

Club 35 regular meetings will be delayed a little this Fall, since so many members are away or busy. Everyone will be notified of the date. Euchres are still held each Monday evening at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Verna Jarvis spent the weekend with her sister Mrs. Helen Brown, having enjoyed a recent trip to the Canadian West by bus.

The Voters' List once again was not posted in a readily accessible spot so that everyone had the privilege of checking to see if their name was properly listed. The old excuse of it blowing away, or children tampering with the list, is a silly one and used only by those who don't give it much thought. Club 35 is the Polling Station and dozens of people have been asking why the list was not properly fastened to the doorway to be viewed by any interested party from August 28th until September 10th at any hour of the day or night. With all the money spent on paying Enumerators and Clerks and the Returning Officer one would think just one election could be handled properly. In cities and towns all over Canada the lists are posted on lamp posts and Public Buildings. In Hall's Lake we have fewer children and busy-bodies around tampering with lists than almost anywhere else one could think of, but we still have to ask why the List isn't posted so that we can find it!

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schorno are getting excited about their forthcoming trip back to their native land of Switzerland, flying next weekend directly to Zurich. We trust they will have a happy and safe trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Davis of Waterdown are enjoying a vacation and staying at Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wallace's home while they are taking a few days off to visit their family.

We were pleased to have an unexpected visit from Bill MacIntosh of Gravenhurst the other afternoon. He and his wife and daughter used to spend their holidays at Cherokee each year and still haven't found a nicer spot or a nicer lake.

The Rev. James Stevenson and his wife of Kingsville had supper with us one evening recently, before leaving for the British Isles.

The Stevensons own a cottage on Little Hawk Lake. The Congregation of his previous Parish church is giving them this trip to Britain and we sincerely trust they will enjoy every moment of it.

Mrs. Lily Rawlins and her sister, Miss May Spence of Toronto, left by air on Saturday for England to visit relatives and familiar places. They were both born in England and were looking forward to this trip for some time. Mrs. Rawlins is the Activities Director at Hyland Crest and a busy dedicated woman who deserves a good holiday and a change. We wish these ladies a safe and delightful journey.

Mr. Edwin Hewitt is back at his old home, but is awaiting a room at Hyland Crest. The McCarthy boys from Toronto always visit him when they come up to their cottages, and Mrs. Jim McCarthy is always very thoughtful and checks on Eddie when up from the City. A lot of Eddie's friends and relatives will feel better when he gets into the Home and know he is well cared for.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bowers spent the week-end at their cottage, and Mr. and Mrs. Scinocca of Peach Lake were up without their family.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Ellis of Toronto who formerly owned a cottage on Hawk Lake Road are having a retirement home built in Campbellford and hope to retire to it somewhere around the first of November.

Along the trails

by Roy Bates

As snowtime approaches letters of inquiry become more and more frequent. Since some of these are forwarded through one or the other of these papers, perhaps it is time to provide an address and devote a few paragraphs to an explanation of who this writer is and why the column. (Actually I've little else this week to write about)

I am a snowmobiler of seven seasons who got into the sport somewhat reluctantly under pressure from a wife and two teenagers. After acquiring that first machine, I found that snowmobiling was a lot of fun once you learned there was more to it than running circles in a neighbour's field. The trail miles that have passed under me would now measure fifteen to twenty thousand. And I've enjoyed every one of them. I can be reached at R.R. 2, Haliburton, KOM 1SO (the village of Donald) or by phone at 457-1658.

I became convinced very early of the wisdom of snowmobiler organization and promptly signed up in the Haliburton Highlands Snowmobile Club which was in the process of folding up. In those days there were an increasing number of editorials and Letters to the Editor condemning snowmobilers for every misdeed imaginable. I could see very little being done about it. So, with the help of a few friends I organized the Donald Windigos Snowmobile Club and launched a campaign to present the good news side of the snowmobiling story.

When in the Spring of 1971 R. Carman Wright, then President of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce, proposed the formation of a county-wide snowmobile association I became one of his strongest supporters. I have been Director of Publicity for the HCSA ever since.

Has the effort been worthwhile? I think it has. When I read Letters to the Editor I find very few of them concerned with the snowmobile. It has been several years since an editorial condemning snowmobilers was last written. But please don't think I am claiming all of the credit. Such writers as Bob Palmer of Holiday Country, and Reg Fife of Ontario Snowmobiler have played a much larger part than I. And there are all the other workers in all the clubs and all the associations and all the federations who have dedicated themselves to making the sport of snowmobiling a safe and sensible form of winter recreation. Without these there would be few trails to ride, there would be no trail grooming, and no organized charitable events like last year's Snowerama for Cripple Children.

Take, for example, my associates on the Board of Directors of the Ontario Federation of Snowmobile Clubs. One of them sits on the newly formed Ontario Trails Council. One is the liaison officer with the Ontario Safety League. Another heads up a committee representing all snowmobilers of Ontario at Queen's Park. This is called the Government Liaison Committee, which was instrumental in getting the million dollars for trails last year. Still another keeps his eye on all proposed legislative changes regarding Provincial Parks, and has already succeeded in gaining a stay of execution on the proposed closing to snowmobiles of several such parks. All sixteen of us are area representatives providing the lines of communication between the Federation and all clubs, associations and Government agencies in our respective regions. My territory, for instance, covers all of the lands in the Minden and Bancroft districts of the Ministry of Natural Resources.

You, if you are a snowmobiler, have a great many people working for you. Why not give them your support? It's easy. Just join your nearest FEDERATED snowmobile club. In Haliburton County you have a choice. The Dorset Snowmobile Club and the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association. Hopefully, and if I do my job well, that choice may be extended.

Everyone wants to earn more, but real increases in wages require increases in productivity. If an employer can't afford to pay the wages of a more efficient competitor and goes out of business, no one will mourn his passing. But when the pace for higher pay is being set by the less productive civil service, then the viability of all business is threatened.

Voting is essential

For the past few weeks the pages of The Echo and other newspapers have been carrying the various dogmas and propaganda as stated by the political parties in their bid for your vote. And although it has become increasingly difficult for the poor voter to distinguish between who has the gospel and who's doing all the political jabber, distinguish we must.

It's not an easy task and certainly not one that can be postponed until such time as we have enough information to make what we feel would be the correct decision. We are bombarded every day with accusations of the other party which in turn counters with a quick jab to the political midriff while the third stands aloof preaching its innocence and its answer to all our ills.

But vote we must. To say that we can make no decision and therefor cannot vote is perhaps more damaging to ourselves than to any party. We will have robbed ourselves of expressing what we believe to be right which in our opinion is far worse than being wrong once in a while. So do yourself a favour and vote.

A few editorial short spurts

Every once in a while the ol' well runs dry. This week it's not so much dry as the fact that the editorial ideas are coming out in short spurts. Here then are a few spurts to consider.

The annual meeting of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce is upcoming and advertised elsewhere in this paper. Why not attend and get your viewpoint across to the executive instead of standing out on the street corner bitching to everyone in earshot.

Nature and the Haliburton Rotarians are getting together this year again to bring you Festacolour '75. For our readers living outside of the county, the colours are starting to show beautifully and should be in high gear when Festacolour arrives. Come on up and join us.

The only thing inflation hasn't affected is the volume of "junk" mail that comes across this desk. It seems the more things cost the harder people try to convince you that you need them. Government has a unique approach. This week we received two very expensive publications telling us how costly it was to let us know how costly it is to run a government.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I was pleasantly surprised to receive the August 13, edition of the Haliburton County Echo, which carried the Pic of the Past, showing the 1935 class of the Haliburton Continuation School. The paper was forwarded to me by Helmut Falke of Rexdale, and to him I am grateful.

Forty years seems like a long time yet it has gone by quite rapidly. I remember many of the faces in that picture quite vividly, but some I had forgotten, so it recalled to memory the others. A lot of water has gone down Drag River since that picture was taken, and I might add that I think we were a good looking group. And here's an honorable mention for Mr. Hart. He was the only teacher that I ever had who carried me across the Redstone River one time when we were fishing there. He caught a beautiful speckled trout that day too. I've only seen one larger since, and that was at the Nipigon River, home of the lunkers.

To all my classmates of '35, and to friends in Haliburton I send, Best Wishes; and thanks to Mrs. May Magee for submitting the photo.

Sincerely
Don Hadley

Pic of the past

How many will remember the students in this Photo? It's the 1912 class of the Minden Public School. Our thanks go out to Mrs. Myrtle Campbell of 9 Rosemarie Dr., in Scarborough, Ontario for submitting this picture. Mrs. Campbell is the niece of Mr. A. Stanley MacGregor who was a teacher at the Minden Public School in the year 1912.

Now that's fishing

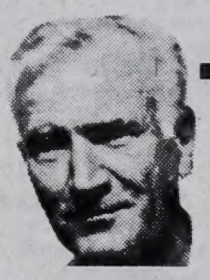
Bill Smiley



"I WONDER what the poor people are doing today?" murmured my fishing mate, as we lay back on a bed of moss, our bellies stuffed with fried fillet of pickerel, looked up at a huge blue sky and lit a cigarette.

We had just finished a shore dinner, prepared by our guide, and had nothing in the world to do but have a little rest and go back and catch some more fish.

No wives nattering, children squabbling, telephone ringing, tires squealing, newspapers blatting headlines.

No decisions to make, disputes to handle, compromises to make, people to get sorted out, problems to solve.

It may not be paradise, but Northern Saskatchewan makes a pretty fair approximation to it, if you like fishing, and clean air, and a complete lack of tension, noise and pollution.

Some of the weekly newspaper people had elected to go on a fishing trip in some of the best fishing country in the world. It was like asking a boozer to go on a wine-tasting trip through Southern France.

We were guests of the Saskatchewan Department of Tourism and Renewable Resources, quite a mouthful. And fine hosts they were. They supplied transportation, accommodation, boats and guides. All we had to buy was our food.

Don't ever tell me again that Saskatchewan means endless miles of prairie. More than half the province makes up some of the most striking wilderness in Canada, thousands of square miles of lakes and forest.

And they're not just bragging about that fishing. I had read of it, and seen some of it on television. It's real. Time and again you'll see two, or even three people in one boat, all with a fish on the line.

Some of the fish-hogs from Ontario were literally hysterical after half a day's fishing.

It begins like this. The guide takes you out to a spot, and you troll slowly. In five minutes you've caught a pike that would have delighted you back home.

"Better throw it back. Let him grow up," mutters the guide, laconically. You are ready to clutch that four-pound pike to your breast and cry, tearfully: "Nobody's gonna get this baby away from me." Too late. The guide has unhooked the fish and let it swim away.

In the next 10 minutes, you've thrown back four, about the same size. Suddenly, your fishing partner ties into a good one, and with a lot of reel-screeching and general excitement, he lands one about nine pounds. "Yeah, we'll keep dat one. He's not bad," says the guide gloomily. And so on.

Same with pickerel. If you hit a hot spot, you can "fill up," that is, catch your quota for the day, in half an hour.

Quotas are generous, and there are no fewer than 12 species of game fish in the province.

So much for the fishing. It's so good that a four-year-old chimpanzee or an 84 year-old senile grandmother could catch fish. I know. I caught one over nine pounds. He was only seven when we netted him, but he's been growing steadily since.

Aside from the fishing, there is the magnificent feeling of being away from it all. Miles and miles and miles of clean water and thousands of acres of bush, and little old you right in the middle of it.

Most of the northern lakes have only a few outfitters located on them, and the government, to cheers from me, is not leasing more shore property. Without government intervention, I can see these beautiful, lonely lakes ravaged by motor-boats, ringed with cottages, and soggy with pollution in a very few years.

With 20-odd assorted bodies, men, women and children, and a most congenial group we were, I was dropped off, after a bone-rattling, seven-hour bus ride, at Jan Lake.

We were all pretty pooped, and I hit the jackpot. It was my first experience of that renowned western hospitality. My hostess, Mrs. Jean Martin, showed me to a fine, modern, log cabin, completely outfitted with everything including indoor waterworks and sleeping room for eight. I had it all to myself. It was like walking deep into the jungle and being shown to a room at the Ritz.

The Martins couldn't do enough for me. They don't serve food at their camp (you cook your own) but insisted I eat all my meals with them, and refused any payment. Garnet, the husband, and Bernard, No. 1 son, fixed me up with a cap, a jacket, a fish-rod and tackle, and Mrs. Martin insisted on making a shore dinner for me.

Highlight of my whole trip, perhaps, was an hour's flight over the area, at fairly low level, with Bernard Martin at the controls. He flies an ancient but sturdy Aeronca, and it was my first flight in a small, light aircraft for many a year. My wife would have had a stroke if she'd seen her old boy climb into that.

It was quite a thrilling flight, with a view of lakes and islands as far as you could see. It was made even more exciting by the facts that I had no parachute, there was only one engine, there was no place to land if the motor conked, except on a lake. And we had no pontoons.

One other circumstance made the whole trip a good one. My fishing companion was Barry Wenger of Wingham, a friend of 25 years. It was just by accident we were thrown together, but I was glad. There's nothing quite so harrowing as spending two days in a boat with someone who gets on your nerves.

Barrie and I had a great time, talking about our grandchildren, and agreeing that we get bigger fish than this back on the Bruce Peninsula.

Better dental care urged

Common dental diseases constitute one of the major public health problems in the country warn Health and Welfare Canada, which has just published a leaflet designed to promote better dental care.

According to the department, despite the odds that 98 percent of all Canadians will experience some degree of dental disease during their lifetime, statistics indicate that only 40 percent of them will get the necessary care.

The common dental diseases include cavities, gum diseases and irregular bite.

Neglect of basics such as brushing and flossing teeth after meals and snacks, and regular dental check-ups can lead to decayed teeth, infection or inflamation of gum tissues, loss of teeth and unnecessary surgery.

The department encourages a dental care routine that becomes second nature for the entire family as the major factor towards healthy teeth.

Report from Parliament

by William C. Scott, M.P.

I am enclosing for your interest a letter which I wrote to Mr. Brian McCool, Secretary for the Federal Electoral Boundaries Commission for Ontario, in which I appeal the new electoral boundaries proposed for Victoria and Haliburton Counties.

I previously outlined the new proposals in a news release dated August 22, 1975.

HOUSE OF COMMONS
CANADA

I should like to advise you of my intention to appear before the Federal Electoral Boundaries Commission for Ontario.

I feel that there are certain very pertinent points and factors which have been ignored in respect to the new proposals published on August 19, 1975, particularly in respect to the Counties of Victoria and Haliburton.

From the new proposals, it would appear that the Commission has ignored the historic and traditional ties between various sections of the present riding of Victoria-Haliburton. While some areas are relatively new comers to the riding, the Counties of Victoria and Haliburton in particular have co-existed as an electoral district for many years. There is a very real and valid reason for this traditional union, and in my opinion it is still relevant today.

While Victoria is a county in its own right, Haliburton is a "provisional county" and as such it shares with and is largely dependant on Victoria County in respect to many agencies and services. For example, the Court System is centered in Lindsay (Victoria) and that population center is also the base of such agencies as the Canada Manpower Center, U.I.C. office, Community and Social Services, and Bell Telephone, to name a few.

Transportation and communication routes have always flowed North to Haliburton from the Victoria region to the South. This is clearly evident in the fact that the only major railway link up originates in Lindsay and terminates in Haliburton Village.

Social and economic ties in Haliburton have also intereacted between the two counties whereas there are few real ties or shared interests between the region of Haliburton and Parry Sound-Muskoka to the North. Community interest and the sense of similar shared ways of life also is an important factor. Individuals and geographical areas become strangly interwined with others of like interests. This is true of the counties of Victoria and Haliburton and also of the areas comprising the Riding of Victoria-Haliburton.

Peoples in these areas should not be shifted to and fro as pawns in a master plan. In a viable democracy we must respect the worth of the individual and also the ties between neighbouring regions. This is also true in respect to political parties, religious, social and community organizations. Once again continuity is a vital aspect which should not be ignored.

A further shortcoming of the new proposal is the fact that they seem to ignore the steady population growth in the Haliburton region. Each year, more and more residents are added as individuals chose the vacation land as their permanent home. This also should be considered as this trend has greatly intensified since the 1971 census and should not be overlooked.

These are but a few of the matters that I look forward to presenting and developing at the hearing and I will be bringing to your attention the many representations made to me by my constituents. I strongly request your most serious and sympathetic consideration.

News from the Chamber of Commerce

Last week we were fortunate enough to attend "Participation Day" at the Leslie Frost Resources Centre near Dorset. Many still think of this centre as the Forestry School, which was its original function. The Ministry of Natural Resources now make the facilities available to study groups, both children and adults, to learn more about our environment. Exports are available with display material to aid in teaching many subjects such as conservation, forest management, pollution control, trail maintenance, canoe handling and all phases of fish and wildlife.

We are very fortunate to have such a vast centre in our county. Not only does it make its facilities available to our local schools, but study groups are coming in from all over the country and being introduced to the Highlands of Haliburton. Drop in and look around when you are in the area.

The Chamber of Commerce is sending a delegation to the upcoming meeting at Bancroft to discuss the Algonquin Park Master Plan. Anyone interested in putting forth ideas at this meeting, is invited to contact us before September 26th.

Some important dates to remember coming up the end of this month - so we suggest you mark them on your calendar now. Festacolour of course is the Sept. 27th weekend in Haliburton. Looks very much like the leaves will be at their peak about then. Two weeks later Minden hold their Octoberfest on October 11th.

Then of course their is the Chamber of Commerce General Meeting, on October 1st. We need, and want to hear your ideas. This is the opportunity for you to come out and make sure you get the board of Directors you want to represent you, and tell them what it is you want them to work towards. We look forward to seeing all of you there.

Bob Stinson - Office - 286-1760, Res. 457-1110.

Ministry of Natural Resources

Seed collecting time

Again this year the Ministry of Natural Resources is involved with the collection of forest tree seeds. This is an extensive program which takes place each year during the late summer and fall months.

From the various offices throughout Ontario the seed is sent to the extraction plant at Angus, where various methods are used to clean and remove the actual seed from its' protective covering. After this process is completed the seed is sent to the nurseries located at such places as Dryden, Thunder Bay, Midhurst and Orono; where it is planted in seed beds. The young trees remain here for three to four years and reach a height of approximately 8" to 12" before they are returned to the various districts to be planted on a reforestration project. As you can see, the first requirement of this cycle is to obtain the seed.

Basswood (which is worth $200.00 per hectolitre), White Pine, European Larch, Tamarack, and White Oak, are the species required by our Ministry in the Minden District this year.

For anyone not familiar with Basswood, its' typical characteristics are as follows:

Leaf- generally heart shaped - 5" or more in length and nearly as wide. Bark - grayish brown - fissured into rather narrow, flat scaly ridges. Fruit - (seed) - in clusters, the individual fruit is a dry woody pea like body coated with tawny hairs. It is attached to a wing used for natural dispersal.

If you, as an individual, or group, would be interested in making some extra money, please contact the Ministry of Natural Resources at Minden 286-1521 or Gooderham 447-2151. We will direct you to picking areas and inform you on the best methods of collection.

By participating in this project you can spend an enjoyable fall day outdoors, make extra money and know that you have provided a great deal of assistance to the management of Renewable Natural Resources in our Province.

July forest fires set records

OTTAWA -- This year's exceptionally dry summer is reflected in Canada's forest fire statistics for July, reported by the Canadian Forestry Service.

During the month, a total of 4,341 fires destroyed 1,514,000 acres of forest, an all-time record high for July or any other month. During the same period last year, the total was 2,091 fires affecting 1,442,000 acres.

For the previous decade, the July averages were 1,791 fires and 648,000 acres.

So far this season, 7,989 fires have burned 1,740,000 acres of forest, compared with 5,571 fires and 1,855,000 acres for the corresponding four months of 1974.

These statistics are included in the monthly report compiled by the Forest Fire Research Institute of the Department of Environment.

Consumers' Association receives grant

OTTAWA, September 8, 1975 -- Consumer and Corporate Affairs Minister Andre Ouellet today announced the approval of a grant of $115,000 to the Consumers' Association of Canada for the support of its overall work in the areas of consumer information and education.

Among the activities of the CAC are the publishing of a national consumer magazine "Canadian Consumer", a program of comparison testing on a variety of products and a grassroots program through its local groups across the country. Some of these groups not only provide information for consumers but also offer assistance, through store-front type operations, in mediating problems between consumers and retailers or manufacturers.

The CAC also offers Canadians a variety of pamphlets and fact sheets on topics of interest to consumers.

Another Davis promise down the drain

Another Davis promise down the drain.

On August 20, 1975 Premier Davis informed the Ontario Federation of Anglers & Hunters, Quote "Concerning Commercial Fishing in the western portion of Lake Ontario, I am informed that nine licences have been in existence for this area and that this number has not changed over the last three years. However, two new special licences have been issued during this period. A single licence to capture eels was issued in 1973 and one licence to take carp was issued in 1974." Unquote.

On the same day we received information from another source, that a gill netter from Lake Erie had moved into Lake Ontario with a 50 ft. commercial fishing boat - equipped with enough gill nets to take tons of coho salmon each day.

The Ministry of Natural Resources confirmed permission had been granted to this netter.

How much longer must the sport fisherman put up with this kind of treatment from the Davis Government. It is obvious to anyone who takes the time to investigate - that the fish and wildlife of this Province has been getting the "short end of the stick" for many years. No serious sportsmen, could with a clear conscience vote for a P.C. Candidate September 18th.

The President of the O.F.A.H., Mr. Jack Bothwell, calls on all members of the Federation and all concerned sportsmen, to seriously consider the consequence of electing another "Blue Machine".

Gems of Truth

"That they may adorn the doctrine of God our Saviour in all things." Titus 2:10.

The extreme value that God's servant Paul put upon the Gospel of Jesus our Lord is clearly seen in the deep concern he had for it. He refers to it as something that should be adorned since it is the doctrine of God our Saviour, Titus 2:10.

The Apostle was wholly absorbed in its power, blessing, and the need to proclaim it. With him there was nothing like it in all the world. In the light of what he knew it could do and what it had done in his own life, every other philosophy he had ever heard of or knew, lost all attraction with him. So utterly was Paul committed to the Gospel that he denied himself of comfort, ease and many lawful things in order that he might make it known to others far and wide. Even persecution and affliction or martyrdom would not distract him from its supreme value. Such was the high esteem that Paul had for the Gospel and its adornment.

Consistent Christian living is the burden of many of the Epistles Paul was privileged to give to the Church of His Lord. To be orthodox in belief and unstable in living only reveals the lack of sincerity and reality in truly knowing the power of the Gospel of God our Saviour, Titus 2:11-12. The Lord Jesus gave Himself to death to redeem us from all iniquity

The life that adorns the Gospel is one that is befitting to sound teaching, thus saving it from being evil spoken of. Godly living is to true Christianity what becoming rainment is to society. Sound teaching produces and maintains Godliness, thus confirming and honouring sound teaching. Since it is the doctrine of God, the Gospel pulsates with the life of God and the one that receives that life is able to break the power of sin and live a transformed life before God and men. Romans 6:17-18. 1 Thessalonians 2:13. To adorn the 'doctrine' of God our Saviour make the Gospel and its power attractive to others by honouring it in walk and conduct.

To "adorn the doctrine" has nothing to do with decorating the meeting house of the Church, or in an attractively dressed preacher or choir and congregation. Neither has it anything to do with eloquent and flowery preaching or super music and opera singing. While there is room for some of these things in a measure, they are for the most part only an outward display, having neither spiritual nor moral quality. They tend rather to human display and pride, thus gratifying the carnal. Furthermore, the "adornment of the doctrine of God our Saviour" does not consist in outward piousness, a loud profession, regular attendance at services or a confession of being orthodox.

To "adorn the doctrine" rather consists of living out the principles of the Gospel in true and Godly living. Since Paul was addressing "slaves or servants" by his clear plea for such living, why cannot all true believers reach out for this standard of life? Obedience to masters, Titus 2:9, endeavours to please them restraining their tongues, or not to be in contradiction to their masters, scrupulous honesty, verse 10, trustworthy and faithfulness. These are principles of conduct whereby the slaves who had been saved by the Gospel would adorn that Gospel and make it attractive to their masters.

What a debt of gratitude the true child of God owes to the Lord and He would have all His children adorn the "doctrine of God our "Saviour" even today. Thus and thus alone are people attracted to the true Gospel that saves from sin.

Trent-Severn waterway

There are 43 dams on the reservoir lakes operated by the Trent-Severn Waterway. These are located on the Gull, Burnt, Nogies, Mississauga, Eels and Jack Watersheds.

Since 1965 seven of these dams have been completely rebuilt or restored and some fifteen others have been repaired.

Restoration of Elliott Falls dam, which started last spring, was recently completed. As well as the concrete restoration of the dam itself, the old log chute was rebuilt. Althout it has not been used for a number of years it has been retained as a reminder of the logging which took place along the Gull River.

As well as the work carried out by Parks Canada, the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources has filled in the old powerhouse forebay entrance to eliminate the excessive leakage which existed.

On September 11th, the reservoir lakes still contained 43.5% of their useable storage water and outflows were near minimum requirements.

Kawartha Lakes levels are nearing the middle of their respective navigation ranges to provide storage for rainfall and mitigate flows past the construction site at Lock #19.

Canada Savings Bonds launched

An attractive yield and terms designed to meet the savings needs of individual Canadian investors have been incorporated in the 1975-76 Series of Canada Savings Bonds launched today by the Minister of Finance.

An average annual yield to maturity of 9.38 per cent is offered over the 9-year period of this new bond. The issue will carry a coupon rate of 8¾ per cent in its first year, and a coupon rate of 9½ per cent in each of the remaining eight years to maturity.

The simple design introduced with last year's Canada Savings Bonds is being retained. After the first year, coupon rates will be unchanged and there will be no compound interest feature.

Bonds in the 1975-76 Series, as with previous issues of Canada Savings Bonds, will be cashable at any time for their full face value plus earned interest. They will be sold by Canadian chartered banks, authorized sales agents including investment dealers, stock brokers, trust and loan companies and credit unions. They may be bought for cash, on the instalment savings plan or through payroll deduction.

The payroll sales campaign for Canada Savings Bonds will begin within a few days among 5,000 participating corporations across the country. Cash and instalment sales will commence this year on October 14.

The bonds will be dated November 1, and investors will not be required to pay accrued interest on bonds purchased between November 1 and November 14. The Minister of Finance reserves the right to terminate cash and official monthly savings plan purchases at any time after November 7 without advance notice. Such action, however, will not affect the November 14 cutoff date for purchase applications under the Payroll Savings Plan.

The Minister also said that for the 1975-76 Series, investors will be permitted to register their bonds in the name of a trust governed by a Registered Retirement Savings Plan, Registered Home Ownership Savings Plan, registered pension plan, deferred profit sharing plan or employee profit sharing plan. Registration must show the names of the trustee, the beneficiary under the plan, as well as the title and registered plan number. The new bonds are transferable to the trust governed by such plans, and back to the beneficiary.

The bonds are available in two forms. Coupon bonds registered as to principal are available in denominations of $50, $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $25,000. Bonds in this form will have an initial coupon of 8¾ per cent and, thereafter, eight coupons of 9 ½ per cent, due on November 1 each year. Fully registered bonds are available in denominations of $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $25,000. Bonds in this form will be registered as to principal and interest, and the interest will be paid directly to holders on November 1 each year by cheque.

As in previous years, interest payments on all Series of Canada Savings Bonds must be reported as income for tax purposes, although such income is eligible for inclusion under the $1,000 interest income deduction of the Income Tax Act. The majority of taxpayers report their interest income only in the year it is actually received, that is, as they clip and cash coupons. The few taxpayers reporting income on an accrual basis -- reporting interest as it is being earned each year, whether or not coupons are cashed -- are required to be consistent with all their Canada Savings Bonds and similar securities.

Carrying charges paid on the purchase of Canada Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan or the Monthly Savings Plan may be deducted for tax purposes.

Environment Ontario moves against use of pesticides

The Ontario Ministry of the Environment has taken steps intended to eliminate those chemicals which cause pain and suffering in the control of animal and bird pests, Environment Minister William G. Newman announced today.

"We are adding a new dimension to our assessment and approval of chemicals under the Pesticides legislation", said Mr. Newman. "To date we have regulated on the basis of toxicity, but this is no longer acceptable as the sole consideration. Chemicals currently under approval will be re-assessed and new ones coming on the market will be studied to determine if they cause pain and suffering to birds or animals. Such chemicals and pesticides will be eliminated. A chemical product such as avitrol, for example, is repugnant to me."

The first step was taken by the Minister recently when he outlawed the use of the chemical avitrol, a product developed in the United States to control redwing blackbirds.

Avitrol has been found to cause great distress to the target birds which flop around or fly in erratic circles crying in distress. Many of them die in great agony. The product attacks the central nervous system and will affect birds other than the target birds. It is also poisonous to mammals.

"The Government of Ontario recognizes the urgent need to control agricultural pests that are costing North American farmers and consumers millions of dollars in damage to crops. Ontario is not alone in this area. As population increases, the entire world food production must keep pace and mankind can ill-afford damage to food supplies by animals and birds," said the Minister.

"Serious food shortages are already occurring in many countries. For these economic reasons, effective but humane methods must be found to control the pests which prey on crops. The scientific community is making strides in controlling this pest population by biological means." Mr. Newman said.

In June, Environment Ontario established a Mammalian and Avian Pest Management Committee to examine chemicals such as avitrol and their applications. The committee, composed of representatives of the private sector, federal and Ontario agencies recommended that avitrol not be allowed on a commercial basis.

The committee will develop a comprehensive research program to find other effective products and humane methods of control, and to assess existing products and new products coming on the market. The committee will hold discussions with interested groups. As a first step, Keith Laver, chairman of the pesticides advisory committee, will meet with officials of the University of Guelph and the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture to discuss establishment of a vertebrate control research test program. York university has already agreed to participate in this test program.

Members of the committee include: Mr. George Laidlaw, Agriculture Canada; Dr. Harry Rowsell, Canada Council on Animal Care; Dr. David Fowle, York University; Dr. F.L. McEwen, the University of Guelph; and Mr. Mike Singleton of the Ontario Federation of Naturalists, and representatives from Ontario Ministries.

Dr. David Fowle, ornithologist and professor of biology at York University has been appointed consultant to the committee. He is studying the results of a test program on the control of redwing blackbirds in the Masson area of Quebec.

"It is our policy not to sanction the marketing or use of any chemical or substance used for pest control in Ontario without first assuring that the product can be stored, shipped, handled and used in a safe and satisfactory manner and that it will do the job intended without endangering our citizens, our environment and our wildlife," said Mr. Newman. "It is and will be our policy to ban the use of any chemical substance in this province which does not meet very stringent criteria and in particular, chemicals which are considered inhumane. Such products have no place in our society", stated the Minister.

In Memoriam

MULHOLLAND - In loving memory of Bill who passed away September 18, 1973.
There is no parting from those we love
No distance can divide.
For to-day in memory's garden.
We still walk side by side.
Each dawning day a thought of you
At eventide a prayer
In the hearts of those who loved you.
You always will be there.
Ever remembered by wife Ellen and Children Janice, Brian, Sharon, Karen and Bill.

In Memoriam

BURKE - In loving memory of my wonderful husband, Harry, who left me September 20, 1969.
I remember the day I met you
The day that you became mine,
I remember the day I lost you
And will, till the end of time.
Among my tears and heartaches,
There is one thing that makes me glad
That you chose me to share
Those precious years we had.
Sadly missed by Marg.

BURKE - In loving memory of my dear Dad, Harry, who passed away on September 20, 1969.
You were so special to our family dad
You were our source of pride
Someone to look up to
And always by our side.
You listened to our problems
In your understanding way.
That's why we love and miss you, Dad
Every single day.
Lovingly remembered by Leitha.
